AL-IQRA NATIONAL ACADEMY

From The Desk of Chairman

I am pleased to welcome you to our institute Al-Iqra National Academy (AINA). The institute has emerged as one of the front-runner schools in the region within a short span of time. It is true that the institute from the very inception designs its various programs in the light of an advanced curriculum and takes the competition into consideration that are dynamic in nature.

In our country, people from diverse religions, castes and languages have been living friendly with each other since time immemorial. We have been taught such tolerable attitude since our childhood and it might be possible to attain such tolerable attitude only through the combination of both religious and modern education. Keeping this in mind, we are laying much emphasis on modern as well as religious value based education and taking an imperative initiative to carry forward this equilibrium.

The excellence in teaching and delivering comes from the careful choice of faculty members in which AINA has never made any compromise.

Since there is always a scope for continuous improvement in the journey towards excellence, your valuable suggestions are solicited.

The roots of education are bitter, but the fruit is sweet- Aristotle.

‘Seek knowledge from cradle to grave - Muhammad (S.A)’

I came across this amazing quote of Muhammad (S.A) and realized the importance of seeking education. There is never any point in the life of a person when he can sit back and say, ‘There is nothing more to learn, I know everything.’

Education is not just learning and teaching subjects in school and gathering certificates, rather it is a life-long exercise and can be acquired from every conceivable place on the earth. Now we know that this cannot be done literally, so we manage it, first in school and then as we go on through the journey of life.

The thirst for knowledge is not restricted to the children. It is also essential for parents and teachers to keep adding to their own knowledge by keeping their eyes and ears open and by reading as much as possible and encourage their children to develop this habit as well. Above all, creativity and imagination make children grow up to be productive adults and make their own contribution to mankind.

School education lays the foundation stone in building the personality of an individual. Basically, primary education helps the children in developing analytical skills, character and personality. Hence, it is imperative to provide the facilities for quality education to all as there is a cleavage between quality education and quality students today. The parents and guardians should understand the value of education and send their children to a sound school which is equipped with all modern education facilities.

Keeping all the above mentioned features in mind, M.M. Haque Foundation has established AL-IQRA NATIONAL ACADEMY aiming to provide quality education. As the children depend more on their teachers than the others, AINA organizes campus training for teachers to improve their teaching skills.
